Foreword

Purba Medinipur district is situated in the southern part of the state of West Bengal. Total geographical area covered by the district is 4713 sq Km. This district extended from 22°31' North to 21°38' North latitude and from 88°12' East to 87°27' East longitudes.

This District has a Multi-Hazard geographical phenomenon having a large area falling under Bay of Bengal Coastal Zone.

Digha, Mandarmoni, Shankarpur and Tajpur are the important tourist spots where a huge numbers of tourists come regularly. To ensure the safety and security of tourist involving all stakeholders is also a challenge of our District.

The arrangement of Nulias for 24x7 have been made for safety of tourist. 200 Disaster Management volunteers have been trained under "Aapda Mitra Scheme" for eleven (11) Blocks, 43 nos Multi-Purpose Cyclone Shelters (PMNRF-15, NCRMP-28) have also been constructed to provide shelter for people and cattle during any emergency need.

Basic training for selected volunteers (@10 for each Block and @5 for Each GP) have also been started for strengthening the Disaster Management group at each level. A group of 20 nos of Disaster Management volunteers in our district have also been provided modern divers training at Kalyani.

Well trained teams upto GP level have been formed to respond during any emergency need for search & rescue, evacuation, distribution of relief materials and removing fallen trees to restore the road communication on emergency basis.

All the GP level teams have also been equipped with basic equipments such as Search Light, Chain Saw, Nylon Rope, Raincoat, Gum boot, for 223 GPs & 05 Municipalities.

All the blocks have been covered by 94 (HT-52, LT-42) nos responding gang from WBSEDCL for emergency. Simultaneously I & W, PHE, PWD, ARD and others Department have also prepared sufficient teams for emergency reponse.

All these developments have also been well documented in this booklet for enhancing the capacity of all stakeholders for responding during any emergency. Regular arrangement of workshops, seminars and conduct of Mock exercise are also our main focused area where the community can participate and play a major role for reducing the impact of disaster risk among the community.

Considering all the aforesaid issues in mind we felt there was a need to have a well-documented District Disaster Management Plan for our district under the guideline of National Disaster Management Authority. Relevant details in connection with the Disaster Management Exercise involving all stake holders have been incorporated in this booklet. The Disaster Management plan will be the basis to establish policies and procedure for assuring maximum and efficient utilization of all resources of the District with a view to minimize the loss of property, life and injury to the population.

We hope this booklet will serve as ready reckoner in the event of any disaster for real time communication of vital information in between the affected persons and the rescue, relief providers, District Administration etc. The steps enumerated in the booklet may help in reducing the damages to life and property of the affected population in the event of any disaster.

Chapter -1

INTRODUCTION:

1.1 AIMS:

The purpose of preparing Multi – Hazard District Disaster Management Plan is –

- a) To ascertain the status of existing resources and facilities available with the various agencies involved in the management of disaster in the District.
- b) To assess their adequacies and short falls if any in providing a multi- disaster response.
- c) To suggest institutional strengthening, technology support, up gradation of information system and data management for improving the quality of administrative responses to disaster at the district level and finally,
- d) To evolve Multi Hazard District Disaster Management Plan as an effective managerial tool.

1.2: OBJECTIVE:

In the absence of a defined plan response to a disaster would be arbitrary leading to over emphasis of some actions or other actions, which would be critical. Moreover, due to absence of a defined response structure and responsibilities allocations there would be mismanagement of resources and overlap of actions among various agencies, which may exacerbate the situation there by compounding the disaster effect.

A formal planning for managing disaster is therefore necessary to ensure minimize of hardship. This can be achieved only through: -

- a) Preplanning a proper sequence of response actions
- b) Allocation of responsibilities to the participating agencies
- c) Effective management of resources, and
- d) Developing codes and standard operating procedures for smooth coordination between various departments and relief agencies involved.

The objectives of any Multi Hazard District Disaster Management Plan should be to localize a disaster and to the maximum extent possible contain it so as to minimize the impact on life, the environment and property.

1.3: Authority for DDMP: Disaster Management Act 2005 (DM Act)

The plan provides guidelines for each stage of disaster management cycle viz. Prevention, Mitigation, Preparedness, Response and Recovery for all the stakeholders. It provides concise and easy to use Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and check lists for all the stakeholders of things to be done in pre-disaster, disaster and post-disaster phases. An easy to use pocket booklet containing contact numbers and SOPs accompanies this document.

1.7 Plan Review & Updation:

In normal course the Plan is reviewed annually on the basis of the information and the feedback gathered from various line departments. In addition there is a flexibility to review and update it as and when needed.

Chapter 2: Hazard, Vulnerability, Capacity and Risk Assessment

Hazard Risk Vulnerability and Capacity Assessment(HRVCA) is one of the important and integral parts for disaster risk reduction(DRR).The objective of a HRVCA is primarily to anticipate the potential problems and possible solutions to help to save lives,protect property,assets,reduce damage and facilitate a speedy recovery.It is worthwhile to mention that HRVCA is a means towards becoming disaster resilient and is not an end in itself.Use of HRVCA helps the policy makers,administrators and the community to make risk based choices to address vulnerabilities,mitigate hazards and prepare for response to and recovery from disasters events.

2.1-District Profile

Physical Feature
Geographical Location	The district of Purba Medinipur is located at the southernmost part of Burdwan Division as well as West Bengal and is situated between 22°57'10" North latitude and 21°36'35" North latitude and 88°12'40" East longitude and 86 ° 33'50" East longitudes. The district has an irregular quadrilateral shape and is located in the Southern part of West Bengal. There is a definitive coastline with Bay of Bengal towards South and South-Eastern boundary of the District. On other sides it is surrounded by river Rupnarayan and the combined flow of river Rupnarayan and lower course of river Hugli (Hooghly) to the East, district Paschim Medinipur to the West and North, State of Odisha to the South-West. Beyond the rivers, District Haora and South Twenty Four Parganas form the Eastern boundary.

Towns	Panskura, Kolaghat, Macheda, Tamluk, Nandakumar Mahisadal Haldia, Chandipur Contai, Ramnagar ,Digha,Egra,Patashpur, Bhagwanpur.
Topography	Topographically, the district can be divided into two parts viz. (i) Flat plains on the East, West and Northern portion of the district, and (ii) The Contai Coastal plain at the Southern part. The land of Purba Medinipur district is a quaternary alluvial deposition. As the district area is bounded by water bodies in two sides, it is a formation of fluvial-tidal deposition. Geologically the area is of recent origin. This region is 5-7 meters above mean Sea level and average slope is 0-5 degree

Soil Type	The soil of the district is alluvial type, as the district under coastal alluvium and its deposition. Soil of this region consists of different layers like sand, silt and clay. The district is situated on flood plains of the rivers Rupnarayan and river Haldi and therefore huge amount of clay is dominating in soil texture. Due to this specialty of soil, water logging in this region during monsoon is very common. Due to poor permeability, the soils are imperfect to poorly drain. Due to this physical quality of the soils, land use pattern of the area is also affected to a larger extent.

Geomorphology:

The landmass of Purba Medinipur district had been evolved from the alluvial floodplain deposits of the Ganga- Brahmaputra River and their tributaries. At macro scale It is a part of the Ganga-Brahmaputra River Basin which is considered as a Geosynclinal Basin. This Basin Boundary is marked by the hilly hard rock terrain in the western side districts like – Purulia, Bankura and Paschim Medinipur. But, in the district of PurbaMedinipur the extensive plain-land is formed by the sediments of river action. Apart from this some typical coastal geomorphological features like Estuary,Tidal flats and Mud flats, Spit and Bar, Salt marsh, salt pans, sand dunes and Sand beaches etc. are found. Well-developed beach is found in Digha, Dattapur, Shaympur, Dadanpatra, Dariapur, Sankarpur, Nij Kasba, Dariapur and Baguranjalpai etc. along Medinipur coast. Three distinct sand dune complex can be identified in the coastal belt of Purba Medinipur i.e. Contai Dune Complex (older) Ramnagar Dune Complex and beach front Dune Complex(Newer). Between older and newer dune chains, depressions (swamp area) of mud flats are found. These mudflats are covered by mangrove species in some places. Salt Marsh is another typical coastal landform feature found in the mouth of Rasulpur River, Kasaba (Hijli) etc.

Geology:

The undivided Medinipur district lies in the extreme south-western part of West Bengal and physiographically can be divided into four significant units: a) Hard rock area, b) Laterite covered platform, c) Alluvial plain & d) Coastal plain. Out of these four units Purba Medinipur district is comprised of last two units. This coastal area is underlain by unconsolidated sediments of sand, silt and clay. According to Chakraborty (1991) these sediments have been categorized into seven different based on their physical, mineralogical and biogenic characteristics. Deposited sediments characterized by marine and non marine alteration.

Terrain Characteristics and classification of Medinipur Coastal Region by P. Chakraborty, 1991

The District is underlain by unconsolidated alluvial sediments of Quaternary age and is overlain by linear, continuous beach ridges (sand dunes) along the present day coastline around Digha-Ramnagar-Contai, which was deposited by wave action of sea. The thickness of the alluvial sediments increases towards east and southeast following the basin configuration. The Quaternary formation comprises newer alluvium of recent age and older alluvium of Pleistocene age. The older alluvium comprises predominantly of yellow to reddish brown clay with kankar and ferruginous gravel and sand (fine to medium). The newer alluvium consists predominantly of clay with occasional intercalation of silt and fine sand and is light grey in colour. The Quaternary sediments are underlain by semi-consolidated Tertiary sediments of Mio-Pliocene age. The Tertiary sediments comprise of alternation of graded sand-silt-clay deposits suggesting cyclic sedimentation. The top of the Tertiary sediment is generally represented by 'grey clay'. This grey clay bed- is persistent throughout the district and considered as 'marker bed' which separates the upper litho-system (Quaternary sediments) and lower litho-system (Tertiary sediment).

2.2.1 Historical Context:

Purba Medinipur district is prone to multi hazard, Specially flood, cyclone, Coastal erosion. But in past when the British Government Rule in India there have been five famines or periods of scarcity viz. in 1766, 1792, 1851, 1866, and 1897. Of the first three there is little record; in 1851 there was a loss of nearly five – eighths of rice harvest, which is the main crop of the district.

2.2.1.1 Vulnerability of Floods:

There are several flood basins in Purba Medinipur District, which extend from South West to North West parallel to the curvature of the shoreline keeping with average distance of 20 km inland position from the present day shore face. They are known as Dubda basin (parts of Ramnagar-I and Egra Block). Patashpur-Amaroshi basin and Ghatal-Daspur basin. All the basins are fed by rivers from the upstream sites as Kaliaghari, Kasai and Shilabati and drained by rivers in the downstream site as Champa Nadi, Rosulpur River, Haldi River and Rupnarayan River. Historically, the basins are significant in the flood map of India in terms of the areas of inundations and duration of stranded flood for a prolonged period in the region of low-lying areas. During the monsoon months, the down-stream discharge of Kaliaghari river, Kasai river and Shilabati river are pounded over the basin as slope reduces suddenly in the topographic form of the basins and at the same time the up-rushing tide waters of astronomical phase encroach into the basins through wider channels of Champa river, Rosulpur river, Haldi river and Rupnarayanpur river from the sea face in the region. For such bi-directional flows of fresh waters from the landward sides and the salt water from the seaward sides, the inland topographic depression of Dubda basin, Patashpur-Amarshi basin and Ghatal-Daspur basin acted as temporary flood reservoirs of water spate into the river during the period of monsoon month to produce such devastating flood in the history.

Flood in Purba Medinipur may be categorized broadly into two types as river floods in the landward side and as coastal floods in the seaward side. River floods are caused by:

- i) Heavy rainfall of the upper catchment areas of drainage basin.
- ii) Downstream flows of rain water from the upper catchment.
- iii) Heavy rainfall in the local areas of the district.
- iv) Decaying nature of the river valleys by siltation.
- v) Presence of older embankment on the both sides of river system.
- vi) The pressure of the up rushing astronomical tide waters through the river mouth, and
- vii) Presence of inland basin in the district.

However, the coastal floods of the district are caused by

- i) Cyclone landfalls with phenomenon of storm surges.
- ii) Occurrences of storm rainfall from stranded clouds.
- iii) Occurrence of tidal waves during astronomical tides.
- iv) Extreme low-lying areas at the younger coastal plain
- v) Location of coastal embankment and estuaries at the surface across the shore fringes sand dunes.

Major Floods and their devastating effects of the past:

Flood of 1823 produced the situation when embankment swept away and a huge flood in Kanthi affecting the arable land from salt water intrusion and huge sickness spread among agricultural people, and during 1831 the embankment damages, salt water inundations and destruction paddy crops are again recorded by the administrative authorities in the low lying areas of eastern Medinipur. During 1832 & 1833 about 7112 people drowned and 865 villages inundated; however, during 1848, 1850, 1864, 1866, 1868, 1888 Ghatal sub-division suffered from rise of water in Kasai, Silai and Dwarakesheswar and Midnapore sub-division suffered from inundation due to Kalighai river floods. Crops were disastrously affected and huge inundation took place in the Hijli portion of the district during this period.

Serious floods of the twentieth century had been those of 1900, 1904, 1907. In September 1900 heavy rainfall flooded the South Bengal district of Medinipur and 24 Parganas and the areas which now belong to Purba Medinipur was heavily inundated and damaged nearly most of the standing crops.

Excessive rainfall in June-July 1904 led to the failure of Autumn crop. In 1905 rainfall was not only heavy but of uneven distribution and so was in 1907.

Floods occurred in 1913, 1922 and 1933. Not only the crops were seriously affected but relief operations had to be carried on in the villages as reflected in the then newspapers.

Floods again visited the area in 1935, 1939 and 1941 due to prolong and incessant heavy rains leading to water logging in the rice fields. The katcha houses in the villages were totally damaged. Relief for building tenements and in some cases cash doles were provided.

In post-independence period the 1956 and 1959 floods submerged the trails of land owing to continuous heavy rain in June and July leading to loss of crop, cattle and homestead.

House building grants and loans had to be provided, relief operations continued for a considerable period.

In 1978 West Bengal in general suffered the worst flood in living memory. Heavy rainfall was received in the Midnapore station (30.08.1978-03.09.1978, 351mm rainfall in 4 days and from 27.09.1978-01.10.1978, 248mm in 5 days) during the end of of August and first week of September and again last week of September. Heavy rainfall, depression and astronomical tide phase were coincided with each other to produce a devastating flood in the entire area. All the rivers were in spate and downstream flows of flood waters over spilled on the banks and on low lying flood plains of the district. Agricultural paddy crops, embankments, road networks and housing structures were ravaged by such activity of floods. Incessant rainfall caused devastating damage to human and property. The havoc created by this flood in Midnapore was probably the most severe in the century. The flood was caused by excessive rainfall in the catchment area of the major rivers flowing through Central and South Bengal accompanied by incessant autumn high tides in the estuary area and cyclonic storms. Total loss of crops and destruction of tubewells for drinking water, damage to school buildings made relief operations difficult.

Flood of 1995: During the middle of May (14-18), 1995 a cyclone struck the coast of South 24 Parganas that also hit the coastal parts of Medinipur with surging waves at the spring high tide level. The agricultural Meteorological station of Contai recorded 399mm rainfall in 48 hours during the period of cyclonic weather. Houses were damaged, embankments of 12 km length were ravaged and the fish pond of low lying coastal administrative blocks was flooded in Purba Medinipur district. Salt water encroached into the river mouth flood plains and other wetlands of Digha mohona, Pichabonu mohona, Rasulpur River, Haldi River and Rupnarayanpur River of the coastal plain. Flood in the pre-monsoon summer months (April-May) produces encrustation into the alluvium by evaporation of encroached salt water into the coastal plains. Cultivability of the lands become affected for a prolonged period because of the impregnated salts into the soils at least before repeated rain wash during the monsoonal months along the coastal belt. A large amount of estimated crop damages took place in the coastal parts of Medinipur.

Flood of 2000: Besides flash floods triggered by incessant torrential storms disaster is also accredited to the opening of sluice gates of dams. The impact of the second wave of flooding starting from 19th September continues to have its impact on the state. As of 24th October, 1262 persons have died and another 117 were reported missing. Water levels have recorded in many of the districts except in North 24 Parganas where water level was receding very slowly due to situation of the rivers. The flood has caused damages in 171 blocks and 68 municipalities in 9 districts.

Flood of 2008: A disastrous flood occurred in Purba Medinipur in the year 2008 when a flash flood of river Kaliaghai flooded the low lying areas of Sabang, Pataspur, Bhagabanpur, Amarashi, Moyna and a large part of the basin was flooded for one month duration. Paddy crops were entirely damaged in the low lying areas, and the smaller roads were submerged by water for a prolonged period and fuels were not available for cooking by affected people. The large embankment of Pataspur-Bhagabanpur blocks were breached in several places by the flood water pressures from the basin nearby the confluence of Kaliaghai, Baghai, and Chandiah rivers. People were rescued from the low-lying areas and the crestal part of the large embankment was provided for temporary shelters for the affected people and livestock under moisture soil in that period.

The flash flood of river Kaliaghai was caused by heavy rainfall in the upper catchment, downstream slopes of the river from the western upland of Medinipur, silted up river beds and also by encroachment of over spilled water of Subarnarekha River into Kaliaghai basin at that time. Houses were damaged in the narrow flood plains of Kaliaghai and Baghai River.

Some major coastal floods took place in the district during 1988, 1989, 1995 and 2009 due to occurrences of storm surge (5-7m in elevation) and torrential rain in and around the low-lying areas of coastal plain. Coastal floods become devastating when they occur during high tides or at the astronomic tides.

Flood of 2009: Coastal blocks of Purba Medinipur (Ramnagar I & II, Contai I, II, Khejuri-II and Nandigram) were flooded by salt water encroachment and storm rainfall during the landfall of 'Aila' cyclone in May 25, 2009. During the cyclone low lands were flooded for a few days and for which the vegetables were degraded a lot and all the fish ponds were flooded. Embankments of the coastal blocks were ravaged by such storm surge (>3.5m in elevation) in the summer month (April). A large number of houses were collapsed by flood waters in coastal blocks.

Flood of 2013: Flood occurred in this district due to incessant heavy rainfall from 18.08.2013 and due to heavy discharge of water from Kangsabati Barrage. The embankment of the river Kangsabati breached at Ranihati under Panskura-I Block and wide area of Panskura-I Block, Tamluk Block, Nandakumar Block and Panskura Municipality were induted besides 20 blocks were affected by water logging. Total 838 Mouzas were affected where crops damaged above 50% due to flood during Kharif season. In view of this 'Flood' was declared by the District Majistrate on 05.09.2013.

The human sufferings from inundations housing damages, livestock affected, several health reports of hazards, snake bites and other problems were recorded in the flood report of the Midnapore district.

Flood water was also released from different dams and barrages and due to tidal lockage in Hoogly and Rupnarayan situation become severe. The major rivers as well as their tributaries ruled high during this period when water level crossed corresponding DL/EDL marks.

Flood of 2015: A low level circulation was developed over Gangetic West Bengal & adjoining Jharkhand from 24th July onwards. After transforming into a cyclonic storm 'Komen', it landed on Bangladesh and finally passed over West Bengal and Jharkhand during 30th July 2015 to 2nd August 2015. As a result all the South Bengal districts received widespread heavy to very heavy rainfall during the period. The most affected blocks being Panskura, Kolaghat and Moyna of Purba Medinipur district.

Nature of damage report during the flood session of 2015 were Slip, Subsidence, Erosion, Scour, Rain cut, Ghog, Overtopping, Breach, Damage to Hydraulic structures, Bridges and Culverts, Morrum Inspection path etc. Affected length of the embankment and Protective works was 25.4 Km. 46 Hydraulic Structures were damaged in the flood season of 2015.

In the year 2007-08 Crop area damaged for flood in the upper mentioned blocks was 71566 Ha, number of Farmers affected was 282164, and Name of the crops which were damaged were Aus Paddy, Aman Paddy etc.

In the year 2008-09 Flood damaged 25430 Ha Crop Area, Number of Farmers affected were 19720 and the Crops that were damaged were Seed Bed, Aman Paddy, Aus Paddy, Jute etc. in the blocks mentioned in the table.

In the year 2009-10 Flood damaged 8113 Ha Crop area, Farmers affected were 31352, Crops damaged were Aus Paddy, Aman Paddy etc.

In the year 2010-11 Drought damaged 15604 Ha Crop area, No of farmers affected 62412, and the Aman Paddy crops was damaged in the blocks mentioned in the table.

In the year 2014-15 flood damaged 126438 Ha Crop Area, Number of Farmers affected were 380314 and the Crops that were damaged were, Aus Paddy, Aman Paddy, etc. in the blocks mentioned in the table.

In the year 2015-16 flood damaged 176622 Ha Crop Area, Number of Farmers affected were 617552 and the Crops that were damaged were, Aman Paddy, Vegetables etc. in the blocks mentioned in the table.

2.2.1.2 Reducing Flood Risk:

Reduce Hazard:

- Retaining water where it falls(increasing infiltration,roof to storing)
- Retention basins(natural wet lands or depressions,man made)
- Land use management (house building code,appropriate spatial planning)

Reduce Exposure:

- Structural measure on the river(dykes,flood walls,raised infrastructure.
- Flood emergency measures(flood warning and evacuation)

Reduce Vulnerability:

- Physical:by improving the infrastructure,well being,occupational opportunities and living environment.
- Constitutional:by facilitating equal participation opportunities,education and awareness,providing adequate skills and social support sytem.
- Motivational: by building awareness and facilitating self-organizations.

2.2.1.3 Vulnerability of Cyclones:

Purba Medinipore of the eastern part of Midnapore was also devastated by disastrous cyclones of the past (1833, 1864, 1867, 1942, 1988, 1997, 2009). High velocity winds, torrential rains and storm surges related to the cyclone breaks have produced primary and secondary effects durind and after devastating cyclones in the past.

Cyclones from the Bay of Bengal is a frequent feature of this region during the prevailing south-west monsoon current. They are all marked by the features of vortices air motion, progressive advance from the interior of the Bay towards the coast and very heavy rainfall over and near the area of cyclonic disturbances. In West Bengal coastal plain, 32% of the cyclones that cause flooding on the coastal low lands occur between October to November. However, in month of May few cyclones (7% occurrences) that causes flooding occur due to the coincidence of on shore strong winds with spring high tides. Most of cyclones that occur particularly in October-November in this region.

Cyclone event year	Impact	Place
10 th March, 1807	Khejuri post destroyed	Khejuri
27 th May, 1823	Khejuri post damaged and change of the river course took place; other low line areas were inundated by salt water encroachment.	Khejuri and other low lying areas of eastern Midnapore.
5 th October, 1864	16.48 feet (5,2 m) above high spring level. 66000 people are died. Inundation crops damaged. Famine, diseases, water contaminated, cattle	Kanthi, Cowcolly, Tamluk, Kaliaghat lost 240000. In Tamruk, among 1400 houses only 27 houses remained.

15-16 th October, 1867	17,500 cattle perished	Contai a storm wave travelled with rotary motion from SW to NE.

Historically the Cyclone of 5th October 1864, as was observed by O Malley was of unprecedented violence. The violent storm caused widespread destruction of houses and uprooting of trees. The waves in the estuary areas were around 4.5mt above land level. There was heavy mortality. In the southern and eastern Medinipore the effect was most disastrous.

The violent cyclone storm wave of 15th to 16th October 1861 came ashore not far from Contai and travelled in the rotary motion from south-west to north-east. The diameter of the storm was 20 miles and O Malley states that the intensity in this area exceeded the cyclone of 1864.

Similarly in the cyclone of 1864 it was reported that two storied house in Contai were wretched, Cholera and small pox epidemic followed which almost depopulated entire village.

The cyclone of 16th October 1942 predated the great Bengal Famine. A severe cyclone accompanied with three tidal waves hit the western districts of Bengal. The severest physical damage occurred in the southern Contai areas of the then district of Midnapore and 24 Parganas. An estimate area of 3200 square miles were affected of which 450 square miles were swept by the tidal waves and around 400 square miles were wrecked by inundation. It finds mention in the Bengal Legislative Assembly proceedings that the houses and livelihood of around 2,5 million Bengalis was ruined by the storm which lasted around 36 hours.<sup>11</sup> The devastation was borne mostly in eastern parts of Midnapore.

Impact of 1942 cyclone over West Bengal coastal plain (estimated after human perception survey around Medinipur):

Region of Storm Damages	Population No. affected.	No. of lives lost	Damage Type	Other Impact
Contai (Kathi) and Medinipur sub-divisions (Medinipur district) “The magnitude of losses as trees, crops, cattle and above all human lives was indeed devastating,” (Human population about storm damage)	About 3 lakhs people directly affected during the cyclone (16 th Oct.1942)	25000 at the time of storm and 25000 at the time of famine after the storm.	Crops damaged and perished, Houses collapsed and flattened. Livestock lost, fishponds flooded and fishes perished. Vegetation were mostly damaged, drinking water borne diseases spread over among the remaining people. Breathing air polluted, severe famine.	High wind speed over 250Km/hr, storm, rainfall, ponding up of terrestrial river discharge, coastal floods, storm surge height 6m, prolonged inundation, river bed silted up, significant shore line erosion.

A cyclone of 250 Km wind speed per hour associated with tidal waves of 7 meters in height wrought havoc over the coastal parts of Sundarban and East Medinipur coastal plain in November 1988(Bandhyopadhyay, 1989). This time the southwest monsoon season was retreating from the coastal plain of South Bengal, but the cyclone of high wind speed visited the low lying areas of the coast during a high spring tide phase. Marginal embankment of the Hugli estuary, Rasulpur river, Haldi river and Rupnarayan river were damaged due to salt water breaches and coastal sand dunes of Purba Medinipur were affected by over wash fan encroachment with high wave run-up activities across the dune fringes sea shores.<sup>12</sup>

Another cyclone of severe wind speed (160km/hr) visited the coastal part of Medinipur with damaging activities from 25th May to 27th May of 1989 (Paul.1996). Both the time and place of landfall of the cyclone were different in compare to 1978 and 1988 cyclones. The cyclone visited coasts at the time of graving hot summer when inland coastal plain soil was unsaturated and the downstream condition of coastal plain estuaries was mostly controlled by flashing tides. A 1.5km stretch of Digha sea wall was severely damaged by wave dash erosion and by overtopping waves. At the same time, the narrow dune barrier of Digha shoreline was breached in three places.

Areas of Damages	Damage Type	Estimate in Value	No of Homeless & Missing Person
Digha coast	Digha foreshore road, market areas and basement of all majoe hotels were inundated under 2m water; Ramnagar I and II blocks were inundated.600m seawall guarding the coastal town collapsed Earthen embankments and prawn hatcheries near Digha estuary were swept away	Paddy, betel leaves and fish worth Rs 75 crores, perished At the rate of Rs.1000 per meter; Rs.6,00,000 Rs.10,000 per fishing hut; Rs.6,00,000	400 fishermen with 40 fishing trawlers from Digha were missing in the Bay 54,000 people were homeless
Khajuri Coast	Cashew and casuarina plantation of the forest Dept. were damaged. Paddy across 1000acres (4m <sup>2</sup> ) in Khejuri block were inundated	Rs.5000	2400 people were homeless
Hugli-Haldi estuarine complex	Tidal waves from the Haldi and Hugli rivers devastated earthen embankment and inundated paddy fields areas of Nandigram I and II, Mahishadal and Sutahata block (Midnapur Dist.) 10000 houses have been destroyed	Repairing costs of damaged embankment of the region Rs.2 crore crop destroyed over 70,000 hectares (700km <sup>2</sup> ) valued at Rs.12 crore	Over 100000 resident people were homeless
Hugli-Rupnarayan estuarine complex	Tidal waves, cyclonic winds and associated wave-dash activities eroded the right embankment of the Rupnarayan river between kolaghat and Geokhali	Repairing costs of damaged embankments of the region Rs.3 crores	Over 3000 people were homeless

On 14th May, 1995 a severe cyclone of over 120 km wind speed per hour, associated with surging tidal waves broke the barrier of earthen embankments and flooded low lands and human habitation with the gushing water. Rendering million homeless in the littoral tract of Midnapore.<sup>13</sup>Digha sea wall was largely damaged and the extent of unprotected sand dunes was retreated landward in the last week of August 1997 when a standing low pressure center over sea intensified into storm just at the period of highest astronomical tide (HAT phase). Water level of the sea exceeded the creastal level of Digha sea wall and the significant wave height was over 2.67m at this period. (Irrigation Dept. Govt. of West Bengal)

Cyclone 2009

A severe cyclonic storm (SCS), AILA crossed West Bengal coast near Sagar Island between 1330 and 1430 hrs. IST of 25th May 2009. It continued to move in a northerly direction across West Bengal and caused loss of about 100 human lives and left several injured. It also caused about 175 human deaths and left several injured in adjoining Bangladesh.

In Purba Medinipur, many mud houses in development blocks Khejuri 1 and Bhagabanpur 1 in East Medinipur are reported to have been destroyed. Both Egra and Contai Sub-Divisions of East Medinipur district are affected. In Egra 1 block, the Egra Municipality area is badly hit, with 4, 600 mainly Muslim families affected. In the same area 56 houses are completely damaged and 703 houses are partly damaged. In total 17 villages are affected in this block and 4,000 hectares of vegetables crop are feared damaged. In Patashpur 1 block, 140 villages are reportedly affected.

2.2.1.4 Thunderstorm:

The thunderstorms are common, particularly in the summer afternoon. Locally, it is known as Norwester or Kalbaisakhi. In association with these thunderstorms severesquall. Occasional hailstorms and lightning events occur in this part of the State in the Pre-Monsoon months.

The devastation of summer crops (Aus paddy), vegetables, housing damages and lightning affected human deaths are recorded in this part of the state by thunderstorms and tornadoes.

2.2.1.5. Famine of 1942:

Towards of the end of 1942 when both Second World War and the Quit India Movement were in full swing, a grave shortage of food began to be felt in Bengal. This crisis developed rapidly in the Greater Calcutta Area and became acute in March 1943. As was case with the other districts of the state, Eastern part of Medinipore (Now Purba Medinipur) also faced with food shortage. The failure of the winter crop (Aman) due to devastating cyclone of 1942 and relief measures were affected. Secondly, people of Midnapore were involved directly in the freedom movement (Quit India Movement of 1942) of the state.

The famine was partially created because the British Military authorities adopted a denial policy during April-May 1942, hindering proper distribution of food grains. Most of the news was censored from this part at that time by the British rulers. This is called The Bengal Famine. The people of Midnapore suffered most. The contemporary newspapers reflect hoarding and profiteering also. Though the exact mortality figures are not reliably available Kolkata and suburbs witnessed the paler of death. Hundreds and hundreds of people are migrating from villages and dying on the pavements with the desolate cry of 'phan debego ma' (please give me alms not of food but only the starch water). Many died of starvation and malnutrition and epidemic contamination was also not rare. Gruel kitchens were opened in the districts of starving famine-stricken people rushing to these relief centres was a common sight then. Besides the Government, many non-official organizations also set up relief centres and medical units for the distressed people.

2.2.1.6 Drought of 2010-11:

In post-independence period there was no famine like situation though a severe drought took place in the district during 2010-2011 when a large number of farmers (62412) were affected due to loss of aman rice over a wide area of the district. This time famine did not occur due to loss of agricultural crops because through its relief and distribution system supplied food to affected people.

2.3 Climatic Profile:

The climate of Purba Medinipur district is tropical in nature. Average temperature in the district varies from 25.5°C to 38.6°C. Rainfall occurs unevenly during monsoon season. Average rainfall is 1,752.6 mm. In Purba Medinipur district, there are five coastal C.D. Blocks viz. Khejuri-II, Deshaparan, Contai-I, Ramnagar-I and Ramnagar-II which are affected by cyclones and floods. This district has a variety of soil – alluvial along the rivers and sandy saline soil in the coastal belt. There are four marked seasons (a) Cold, dry weather from December to February (b) Hot, dry weather from March to May (c) Monsoon period lasts from June to September, and (d) Post monsoon period prevails in October and November. The district receives almost over 70 per cent of its annual rainfall between June to September.

2.4 - River system of Purba Medinipur

Owing to the natural gradient of the land, the rivers of Purba Medinipur district are usually originated from the Chhota Nagpur Plateau at the West and drain to the channels of river Hugli (Hoogly) or Bay of Bengal to the East or South-East. Most of the rivers are flowing from West to East or North-West to South-East direction, according to the slope of the landmass. The river system of Purba Medinipur comes under the Bhagirathi- Hugli River Basin. River Hugli nowhere intersects the district, but flows along the eastern boundary from the point where it receives the waters of the Rupnarayan opposite Hugli Point down to the Bay of Bengal. The Rupnarayan, Kasai-Haldi, Keleghai, Rosulpur and their sub tributaries and many tidal channels form the river system of the district. Brief descriptions of some of the important rivers of Purba Medinipur district are given in the following Table

Kangsabati

The river Kangsabati variously known as the Kasai and Cossye is originating from Chhotanagpur Plateau in the Purulia district and flowing south-eastward, joins with its main tributary Kumari river at Mukutmanipur of Bankura district . Further down, after entering into the district of PaschimMedinipur it joins with combined streams of BhairabBanki and Tarafeni rivers. Both the rivers have barrages over them under the 'Kangsabati Reservoir Project'. After travelling further east in a convoluted course it bifurcates into two rivers at Kapastikri of Paschim Medinipur. Northern branch, known as Old Cossye after flowing through certain distance, further bifurcates into two courses at Daspur of Paschim Medinipur. One course, named as Palaspaikhal flow further east to outfall into the Rupnarayan and the main course, known as Durbachati flows south-easterly along the border of both Medinipur districts to outfall into river Rupnarayan. Old Cossye is also connected with river Shilabati through a small channel known as Kankikhal. The southern course, known as New Cossye, flows further south-easterly direction to meet with river Kaliaghai at Dheubhanga of Purba Medinipur district and forms river Haldi which flows eastwardly into the river Hoogly at Haldia. Kherai and Bakshikhal is the main tributary of river New Cossye. The total length of Kangsabati is around 465 km. The catchment area of this sub-basin is 6, 645 sq. km. Very often lower portion of this sub-basin specially Ghatal area of Paschim Medinipur and Panskura area of PurbaMedinipur districts suffer from inundation due to high flood discharge from its uncontrolled catchment downstream of the Mukutmanipur dam synchronizing with high tide in river Rupnarayan.

. Kaliaghai

The river Kaliaghai trickles out from Dudhkundi of Jhargram in Paschim Medinipur district and flows south-easterly through Purba Medinipur to meet the other arm of Kangsabati i.e. New Cossye to form Haldi. During the course of its journey, it is fed by the flow of its tributaries namely Kapaleswari, Baghai and Chandia. The length of this river is 121 km and catchment area is 1, 913 sq. km. This river is mainly responsible for flood in Sabang area of Paschim Medinipur district.

Rupnarayan

River Rupnarayan is the major drainage artery of south-western districts of South Bengal. Being the main tributary of Hoogly river, it receives tidal discharge of Bay of Bengal throughout the year and plays an important role in draining flood water from vast catchment area. Irrespective of discharges from its major tributaries like Mundeswari, Darakeswar, Shilabati and Kangsabati, it also receives flood water from many local drainage channels like Kata khal of Hoogly, Bakshikhal of Howrah, Chandreswarkhal of Paschim Medinipur, Denan-Dehaty-Soadighi-Gangakhali-Pratapkhali-Shankrarakhals of Purba Medinipur which directly outfall into Rupnarayan from its both banks. The length of this river is 80 km having local catchment area of 1, 226 sq. km.

Haldi Sub-basin

Two rivers New Cossye and Kaliaghai join at Dheubhanga of Purba Medinipur to form river Haldi which after traversing south-eastward outfalls into river Hoogly near Haldia town. It divides the Purba Medinipur district into two parts, the Northern part can be categorized as drainage area of Tamluk and the southern part can be categorized as Rasulpur-Nandigram drainage area. Except upper catchment discharges from Kaliaghai-New Cossye sub-basins, river Haldi drains out water from parts of both the above mentioned drainage areas. The lower portion of the river Haldi is affected by over bank spills and drainage problem during the monsoon as entire stretch of 42 km of the river falls under the tidal influence of river Hoogly. The local catchment area of this sub-basin is 614 sq. km.

Rasulpur Sub-basin

The river Rasulpur is formed by union of two drainage channels namely Bagda and Sadarkhals. It is the main drainage channel in Contai sub-division of Purba Medinipur district. Theriver having length 19 km drains out flood water of 1, 556 sq. km into the river Hoogly.

Low Lying Area:

Moyna, Patashpur-I, Bhagwanpur-I, Egra-I, Panskura-I, Kolaghat, Chandipur Blocks & part of Egra Municipality.

3.8 Forecasting and warning agencies:

Disasters	Agencies
Cyclone	Indian Meteorological Department
Tsunami	Indian National Centre for Oceanic Information Services
Floods	Central Water Commission
Landslides	Geological Survey of India
Avalanches	Snow and Avalanche Study Establishment
Heat & Cold Waves	Indian Meteorological Department
Earthquake	Indian Meteorological Department

Apart from this all wather alert messages received from State Emergency Operations Centre.

Forecasting and Warning of Cyclones:

The cyclone warning is issued to State Government officials in four stages: i.e.

- (i) pre-cyclone watch issued 72 hours in advance,
- (ii) cyclone alert issued at least 48 hours in advance,
- (iii) cyclone warning issued at least 24 hours in advance, and
- (iv) as post landfall outlook issued at least 12 hours in advance of expected time of landfall.

IMD has prepared roadmap for cyclonegenesis and further intensification, monitoring and prediction.

Flood Forecasting – Central Water Commission:

The flood forecasting involves the following four main activities:

- (i) observation and collection of hydrological and hydro meteorological data,
  - (ii) transmission of Data to forecasting centres,
  - (iii) analysis of data and formulation of forecast, and
- Dissemination of forecast

In monitoring the floods, severity of floods is placed in the following four categories by the CWC

- (i) Low Flood stage – It is that flood situation when the water level of the river is flowing between warning level and danger level of the forecasting stations.
- (ii) Medium flood stage – The river is called in medium floods when its water level is at or above the danger level of the forecasting station but below 0.50 of its highest flood level (HFL)
- (iii) High flood state – When the water level of the river is below the HFL but within 0.50 m of the HFL of the forecasting stations.
- (iv) Unprecedented flood stage – The river is called in unprecedented floods when it attains water level equal to or above its previous HFL at any forecasting stations.

Tsunami warning – Indian National Centre for Oceanic Information System:

Post tsunami dated 26th December, 2004, Ministry of Earth Sciences has established the Indian National Tsunami Warning System at Indian National Centre for Ocean Information Services (INCOIS), Hyderabad. The Tsunami Early Warning System (TEWS) was made operational on 15th Oct 2007. This agency has developed a protocol for issue for Tsunami Watch, Alert and Warnings. The Centre gives information to all responders about the origin, time, location of the epicenter, magnitude and depth of an earthquake inside the ocean and accordingly issues bulletins.

The system is capable of detecting all earthquake events of more than 6 Magnitude occurring in the Indian Ocean in less than 20 minutes of occurrence and first report on the occurrence of an earthquake in India and the Indian Ocean region to sent to MHA within 25-30 minutes indicating the location and magnitude of the earthquake.

Chapter 4: Prevention and Mitigation Measure

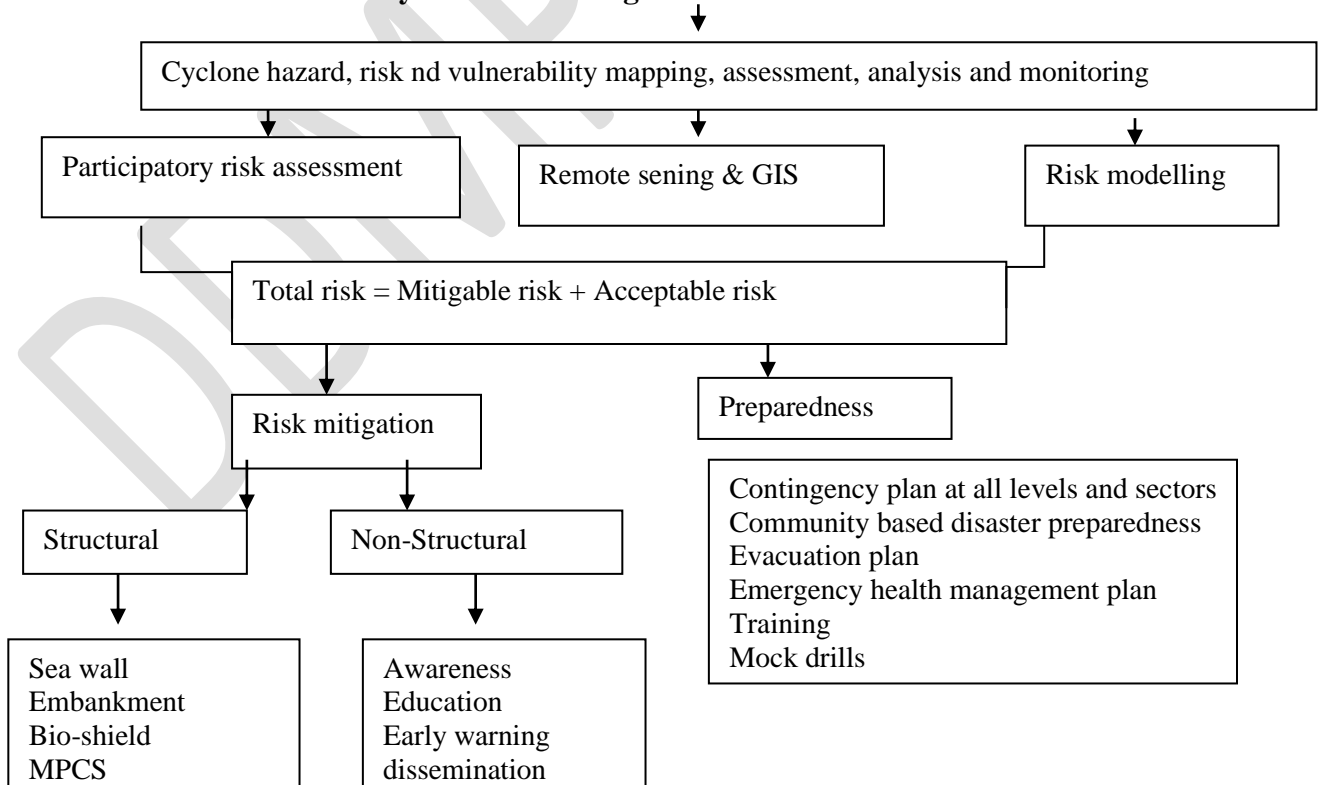

. It inter-alia stressed that disaster prevention, mitigation, preparedness and relief were four elements, which contribute to and gain from the implementation of the sustainable development policies. These elements along with environmental protection and sustainable development, are closely inter related. Nations, therefore should incorporate them in their development plans and ensure efficient follow up measures at the community, sub-regional, regional, national and international levels. Disaster prevention, mitigation and preparedness are better than disaster response in achieving the goals and objectives of vulnerability reduction

4.1: Hazard-wise Prevention and Mitigation plan:

Risk of destruction and casualties associated with different disasters can substantially be reduced by introduction of prevention and mitigation measures. Mitigation is generally categorised into two main types of activities i.e. structural and non-structural. Structural mitigation refers to any physical construction to reduce or avoid possible impacts of hazards, which include engineering measures and construction of hazard-resistant protective structures and infrastructure. Non-structural mitigation refers to policies, awareness, knowledge development, public commitment, and methods and operating practices, including participatory mechanisms and the provision of information, which can reduce risk with related impacts. The State Disaster Management Authority and District Disaster Management Authority has been adopted several mitigation measures for reducing the risk of being affected by disasters. These measures are being implemented by the concerned ministries. Some of these initiatives are described below.

Cyclone Risk Mitigation and Prevention Measure

4.1.1 Cyclone Risk Mitigation Framework

National Cyclone Risk Mitigation Project:

Recurrent cyclones account for a large number of deaths, loss of livelihood opportunities, loss of public and private property, and severe damage to infrastructure, thus reversing the developmental gains whenever disasters occur. In order to reduce the loss of life and properties in the events of future calamities, the NCRMP has been launched by MHA in three phases in the cyclone prone coastal states and Union Territories, keeping in view the vulnerability of the states and their readiness with investment proposals. In Purba Medinipur District total no of cyclone shelter is 43,15 nos of Multipurpose Cyclone Shelter under Prime Minister National Relief Fund and 28 nos of Multipurpose Cyclone Shelter under National Cyclone Risk Mitigation Programme. The details list is attached in Annexure.

Flood Risk Mitigation and Prevention Measure

The state governments are engaged in flood management work since the independence of the country. Upto the Tenth Five Year Plan, 45.6 million hectares (m-ha.) of flood prone areas in the country had been provided a reasonable degree of protection. The Eleventh Five Year Plan envisages protecting an additional area of 2.18 million hectares. Management of water resources is primarily the responsibility of the state governments. The schemes for Flood Control and Protection are therefore, to be planned, funded and executed by the state governments. The Government of India, under the aegis of Ministry of Water Resources has launched the “Flood Management Programme (FMP)” at a total cost of ` 8000 crores for the 11th Plan period (2007-12).

4.1.2 Typology of Flood Risk Mitigation

Tsunami Risk Mitigation and Prevention Measure

The Tsunami of 26th December 2004 caused extensive damage to life and property in the States of Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Andhra Pradesh and UTs of Puducherry and Andaman & Nicobar Islands (A&NI). It hit the fishermen community badly besides their means of livelihood. There had also been extensive damage to the infrastructure including houses, harbors, jetties, roads, bridges, power, telecom, hospitals, schools and other social sector buildings after Tsunami in Samanthanpettai village Nagapattanam.

One of the natural measures which could be adopted for mitigating the impact of tsunami is using shoreline tree cover. Tree plantation is a cost-effective long- lasting means of tsunami mitigation in comparison to the artificial barriers.

Epidemic

Post-disaster management of health, sanitation and hygiene services is crucial to prevent an outbreak of epidemics. National Vector Borne Diseases Control Programme (NVBDCP) is the key programme for prevention/control of outbreaks/epidemics of malaria, dengue, chikungunya etc., vaccines administered to reduce the morbidity and mortality due to diseases like measles, diphtheria, pertussis, poliomyelitis etc. Two key measures to prevent/control epidemics of water-borne diseases like cholera, viral hepatitis etc. include making available safe water and ensuring personal and domestic hygienic practices are adopted.

Accordingly, Govt. of India launched Integrated Disease Surveillance Project (IDSP) in November 2004 to strengthen capacity at state/district levels to detect and respond to the epidemics in early rising phase. Under the project, the district and states have been strengthened by providing additional technical manpower (epidemiologists, microbiologists, entomologists), training of rapid response teams for outbreak investigation and control, strengthening of laboratories for detection of organisms causing epidemic prone diseases, and establishment of IT network for data compilation, dissemination and analysis. The states are at varying stages of implementation.

5.5 Mechanism for checking and certification of logistic, equipments and stores:

Disaster equipments and other disaster related materials are stored at different locations (SDM/DM/Fire Service Offices). These materials are being checked once in a year by technical teams constituted by the state government and also being used in different mock drills and capacity building trainings.

5.6 Operational checkup for Emergency Operation Center:

This is done on quarterly basis while conducting mock drills at the District and Sub-division/block level.

Chapter: -6

Capacity Development and Training Measure

Effective disaster management requires trained manpower to deal with complex situations effectively and speedily to reduce the impact of disaster on human life and property. Capacity building need to encompass all resources available within a community, society and organization to reduce the level of risk or the effects of a disaster.

6.1 Capacity Building Plan

Components of the Capacity Building:

- Training
  - Education
  - Research
  - Awareness
- (i) Training: It is a learning process that involves the acquisition of knowledge, sharpening of skills, concepts, rules, or change of attitude and behavior to enhance the performance of individuals associated with different departments and institutions.
- (ii) Education: Amidst changes of the past decades, school education sector, the most discussed topic of national importance, is planning for more contextual, practical and application-oriented curriculum for students at different levels of schooling.
- (iii) Research: Research is an organised and systematic way of finding answers to questions. Systematic because there are certain things in the research process which are always done in order to get most accurate result.
- (iv) Awareness: Awareness is generally defined as knowledge created through interaction between an agent and its environment. It cannot be simply referred to as “knowing what is going on.” This concept of awareness involves state of knowledge as well as dynamic processes of perception and action.

The capacity building plan approaches include:

- According priority to training for developing community-based disaster management systems for their specific needs in view of the regional diversities and multi hazard vulnerabilities.

Chapter 11: Coordination Mechanism for implementation of DDMP

Dealing with a major disaster requires resources from outside the district. When the capacities of a district administration are overwhelmed, higher levels are called upon to assist. Likewise, assets and capabilities in the corporate and non-governmental sectors available around the district may be brought to bear.

There are many actions undertaken by participants in disaster management that support this goal, both pre- disaster (to forestall or reduce potential damage) and post-disaster (to recover from actual damage) and ideally these activities would reduce the potential effects of a disaster significantly. For achieving this objective, the plan should have a pre-established and practiced mechanism for Inter, intra and extra agency coordination.

Pre-Disaster meetings to review the DDMP with all stakeholders should also be planned. All line department plan enclosed herewith.

Department of Agricultural

The possibility of Flood at any time will not be ignored for taking rapid action towards the post flood situation, an appropriate contingent plan of work will have to be taken in the affected areas of this district. The contingent planning to combat the flood situation depends upon the intensity of damage and time of occurrence. The major part of the contingent planning in Agril. Sector is generally emphasized in post occurrence period for compensating the yield loss.

However, the followings are an out time of the contingent plan proposed to be taken in different situation in this district.

A) Precautionary measures to be followed to overcome the adverse effects of flood:

a) Early Occurrence of Flood in between Mid July to Mid August.

Type of Flood	Time of Occurrence	Work to be done
Early Season	Mid July to Mid August	a) Sowing of Aman Seedbed should be done in a staggered manner.
		b) Farmers are to be requested for keeping their own seeds up to 20% extra.
		c) Raising of seedling through dapa method will have to be followed with short duration variety.
		d) Preservation of extra Aman seedbed which is to be sown late in a staggered manner in each Govt. farms along with reservation of 10% suitable H.Y. Varieties are to be ascertained.
		e) For quick drainage of flood water local barriers on drainage channel should be removed.
		f) Farmers of flood prone blocks like Panskura, Kolaghat, SM, Tamruk, Moyna, Bhagwanpur-I&II, Patashpur-I&II, Egra-II etc. may be advised not to dispose their surplus seedlings till August.
		g) For better management at least 25 resource farmers in each G.P. of flood prone blocks are to be identified well ahead with suitable variety and quantity so that the seed for sowing may be available if required.

b). OCCURRENCE OF FLOOD AT THE END OF AUGUST.

Mid Season	End of August	a) Aged long duration varieties may be used for retransplanting of Aman Paddy.
		b) Surplus seedlings may be collected from neighbouring locality.
		c) Double transplanting method adopted by splitting from the main field.

c). OCCURRENCE OF FLOOD WITHIN MID SEPTEMBER.

Late Season	Within Mid September	a) Farmers of flood prone area are to be advised to keep their surplus seedbed specially of Annada, Parijat, IET-4094 etc. and tall indica varieties up to Mid Sept. so that they can utilize the same if flood occurs during that period.
		b) Arrangement for distribution of fert. Kit for boosting up the growth within short span of time for getting satisfactory yield.
		c) Farmers of flood prone area are to be advised to plan for intensive Rabi & Summer Cropping programme.
		d) Requiring for certified Seed are to be placed to seed supplying agency well ahead for better achievement of Rabi-Programme
		e) Assessment of quality seeds of different Rabi Minikits are to be made and to be taken up with the Deptt. for early supply.
		f) Asst.D.A(F)/AFM will inform the undersigned and concerned Asst.D.A(Admn.) about present stock of paddy straw, so that it can be utilized on requisition by A.R.Deptt. during post flood situation

Requisition of Agril. Inputs for Re-Construction Programme

On the basis of past experience, it is proposed that the following item of Inputs may be reserved for Rabi & Summer Season during the year 2018-19.

Sl.No.	Particulars	Requisition in Nos/Qnty.	Action to be taken
1	a) Paddy minikits @ 10 kg. each b) Fert.(NPK) Minikits @ 10 kg. each c) Paddy seed on subsidy	100000 nos. 100000 nos 300 MT	Deptt of Agril. & Zilla Parisad.
2	Mustard Minikits @ 1 kg each	10,000 nos	-do-
3	Khesari Minikits @ 6 kg each	15,000 nos	-do-
4	Kalai Minikits @ 4 Kg. each	10000 nos	-do-
5	Sunflower Minikits @ 1 kg each	10000 nos	-do-
6	Wheat Minikits @ 15 kg. each	2000 nos	-do-
7	Groundnut Minikits @ 15 Kg. each	20000 nos	-do-
8	Moong Minikits @ 4 kg. each	10000 nos	-do-

N.B. :- 1) Concerned G.P. Pradhan at River Belt and Costal Area are to be requested to keep their vigilance and exercise over the control of sluice gates, removal of obstrucles etc. at drainage channels to restrict the ingresson of tidal water and for drainage of stagnant water both during heavy rainfall period.

2) In addition to above contingent planning Asst.D.A(Admn.)/Asst.D.A(Block) will have to draw up adoptable plan to combat the situation in case of emergency and will send to the undersigned for taking action.

3) Any incident of flood or flood like situation in any pocket or area must be forthwith be reported to the undersigned promptly.

4) Apprehended flood prone blocks like Moyna ,Panskura, Kolaghat, Sahid Matangini, Bhagwanpur-I&II, Patashpur-I&II, Egra-I&II & Part of Tamluk and Nandakumar etc.

Concerned Department Officers are requested to be alert for the incidence if ocurred

B) Precautionary measures to be followed to overcome the adverse effects of Drought:

To make preparedness effective at the grass root level, a joint monitoring of ground situation in the month of May, by the District level Officers of Department of Agriculture, Irrigation & Waterways & WRI&D are to be made to find out the irrigation water availability from all Major, Medium & Minor Irrigation sources of that particular areas, quantifying it at the block level, documenting the entire report & finally fortnight monitoring of the situation.

Type of Drought	Time of Occurrence	Actions to be taken
Early season	June to 1 st week of July	I) To harvest the runoff water, more number of surface water harvesting structures like pond, dug well etc. are to be excavated & water harvesting structures at lower elevation following Land Shaping Model of Pond within individual holding can be followed. II) Construction of earthen bunds around the individual plot to harvest runoff water. III) Compulsory application of organic manure at recommended does to improve the water holding capacity of the soil to combat adverse effects of drought in a better way. IV) Preparation of Community Seedbed of rice seedlings near common source of water body i.e. pond, dug well etc.& earmark at least 10% area under each block at least a month before normal Seedbed preparation of Rice, suitable for this community Seedbed. V) Staggered sowing of rice seed in Seedbed at 10 days interval. VI) Double transplanting of medium to long duration rice varieties to avoid the drought time in the main field. VII) Application of 50% Nitrogen as basal does & closer spacing with higher number of seedlings per hill are to be practiced. VIII) Direct seedling of rice through Zero/Minimal Tillage machine as per recommendation.

		IX) In upland areas cultivation of Arhar, Black Gram, Groundnut & Maize & Mixed Crop of Maize & Arhar are the better crop options.

Industrial Disaster Management Plan

Hazard, Vulnerability, Capacity and Risk Assessment

Hazard Risk Vulnerability and Capacity Assessment(HRVCA) is one of the important and integral parts for disaster risk reduction(DRR).The objective of a HRVCA is primarily to anticipate the potential problems and possible solutions to help to save lives,protect property,assets,reduce damage and facilitate a speedy recovery.It is worthwhile to mention that HRVCA is a means towards becoming disaster resilient and is not an end in itself.Use of HRVCA helps the policy makers,administrators and the community to make risk based choices to address vulnerabilities,mitigate hazards and prepare for response to and recovery from disasters events.

Towns	Haldia Township
Topography	Topographically, the district can be divided into two parts viz. (i) Flat plains on the East, West and Northern portion of the district, and (ii) The Contai Coastal plain at the Southern part. The land of Purba Medinipur district is a quaternary alluvial deposition. As the district area is bounded by water bodies in two sides, it is a formation of fluvial-tidal deposition. Geologically the area is of recent origin. This region is 5-7 meters above mean Sea level and average slope is 0-5 degree
Soil Type	The soil of the district is alluvial type, as the district under coastal alluvium and its deposition. Soil of this region consists of different layers like sand, silt and clay. The district is situated on flood plains of the rivers Hooghly and river Haldi and therefore huge amount of clay is dominating in soil texture. Due to this specialty of soil, water logging in this region during monsoon is very common. Due to poor permeability, the soils are imperfect to poorly drain. Due to this physical quality of the soils, land use pattern of the area is also affected to a larger extent.

Characteristic of Haldia:

➤ Geographical location:

Haldia is an existing industrial based is located 56 nautical mile downstream of Kolkata port the gateway of eastern India in the southern tip of Purba Medinipur district in West Bengal. It is located in estuarine reaches of the river Bhagirathi and the confluence of river Hoogly and river Haldi. The town Haldia lies between Latitude 22°03'43''N to 22°04'53''N and Longitude 88°07'53''E to 88°09'4''E. Haldia town or Haldia Municipality lies on the southern tip of the planning area extending over the interflaves of Haldi and Hoogly river.

➤ Historical Background :

Development of Haldia urban industrial complex is traced back to the development of Haldia Dock Complex. Founded in 1959. Haldia Urban Industrial complex has developed due to setting up of Haldia Dock Complex as a subsidiary trade port for Kolkata, intended mainly for bulk cargoes. Haldia Dock as an adjunct to Kolkata Port started its functioning since 1968 and picked up its activities with the commissioning of Haldia Dock Complex in 1977. Haldia industrial complex is basically port based. The industrial city has several factories including South Asian Petrochemicals Limited, Indian Oil Corporation Limited (IOCL) Exide, Shaw Wallace, Tata Chemicals, Petrochemical Complex (Haldia Petrochemical) and Hindustan Lever, in addition to various light industries. The port has attracted factories of foreign companies, like Mitsubishi Chemical Company (MCC). Indian Oil Refinery, Haldia Petrochemical Project and Mitsubishi PTA plant are the industrial nucleus of Haldia. A large number of companies are also being set up. The Haldia Petrochemicals is the second largest project of such kind in India. During 1991 to 2004 about Rs. 10,000/- crore was invested in Haldia complex, which accounted for 36 per cent of total investment in West Bengal.

Haldia is fast emerging as a very important industrial destination not only in West Bengal but also in the whole of eastern India. With about 400 industrial units, Haldia has an estimated investment of over Rs. 112 billion and currently provides direct employment to about 12000 persons and indirect employment to over 50000 persons. Due to downstream and logistic requirements there is huge number of manpower engaged in related activities like truck, trailer and tankers movement. Haldia is in the process of being transformed into the most coveted industrial destination in eastern India, and also the “gateway to south-east Asia.” In order to achieve and sustain this position, Haldia Development Authority (HDA), the nodal development agency of the region has been working towards development to world-class infrastructure facilities. The map of Haldia Dock Complex, industrial complex and overall municipal town area is shown in the page that follows. Haldia is one of the fast growing urban industrial complexes experiencing above 5 per cent annual growth of population and above 6 per cent overall annual growth of workers (male 5.98 per cent and female 14.12 per cent) during 1991 to 2001 having drawn about 39 per cent of industrial investment in West Bengal the era of liberalization, privatization and globalization. Development of Haldia urban complex has been accelerated.

In 1991, Haldia’s population was 1.0 lakh as per Census of India and in 2001 it had a population of 1.71 lakh, males constituting 53% of the population and females 47%. In the city, 13% of the population was under 6 years of age in 2001. Haldia had an average literacy rate of 82.1%, higher than 80.2%, the literacy rate of the whole of Purba Medinipur district, male literacy being 90.0% and female literacy 73.2%.

The Haldia Township is bordered by the Haldi River, an offshoot of the Ganges River. The riverside in Haldia is a favorite destination for residents and one can see people strolling down the riverside during the evenings.

Haldia is also a base of Indian Coast guard. There is a hover-port to house two of the six hovercrafts belonging to the Indian Coast Guard.

Haldia Development Authority provides the necessary infrastructure for industrial and urban development, which includes land acquisition, development of physical infrastructure, housing, transport, water for domestic and industrial purpose, electricity, drainage and solid waste disposal facilities and provide social infrastructure like educational institution, health facilities, recreation and amenities, commercial centers. With the Policy of the Central and State Government and initiatives by the local stake holders, Haldia has emerged as one of the rapidly growing Urban-Industrial centre of the country.

Hazard Assessment:

Nature and definition of Industrial hazard :

The industrial or technological hazard may be define as the interaction among the technology, society & environment. The term technological hazard has been widely interpreted. Thus the technology itself a range from a single toxic chemical to entire industry such as nuclear power. The degree of human involvement is also varies.

Classification of Industrial Hazard:

In order to understand the range and diversity of Industrial Hazard it is useful to classify them as follows:

Classification of Industrial Hazard(Technological Hazard)

Class	Example
Multiple Extreme Hazard	Nuclear radiation, terrorist attacks ,Explosion,Fire
Extreme Hazard
Persistent teratogens	Uranium mining, rubber manufacturer
Rare catastrophe	LNG,air plane crashes
Common killer	Coal mining,fossil fuel

Sources of Chemical Disasters:

Chemical disaster may originate in :

- ✓ Manufacturing and formulation installations including during commissioning and process operations; maintenance and disposal
- ✓ Material handling and storage in manufacturing facilities, and isolated storages; warehouses and godowns including tank farms in ports and docks and fuel depots.
- ✓ Transportation (road, rail, air, water, and pipelines).

Type of Chemical Disaster:

Fire explosion toxic releases are the different type of action which can be considered for industrial hazard.

A) Fire:

There are essentially five types of fires associated with hazardous materials discharge.

1) Flame Jet:

The gas discharging or venting from the whole will form a gas jet that's blows into the atmosphere in the direction the whole is facing while entering and mixing with air.If the gas is flammable and an encounter of ignition source.Such jet pose a thermal radiation hazard

To nearby people and property and are particularly hazardous if they impinging upon the exterior of nearby intact containing flammable,volatile or self – reactive hazardous materials.

2) Vapour or dust cloud fire :

Vapour evolved from a pool volatile liquid or a pool volatile liquid or gas venting out from a punctured or otherwise damaged container,if not ignited immediately from a plume or cloud of gas or vapor move into down wind direction.

3) Liquid Pool Fire:

A liquid pool fire define as a fire involving of quantity of liquid fuel such as gasoline spill on the surface of the land or water.There have been cases where such fire have ignited others combustible materials in the area or have caused BLEVEs(Boiling Liquid Expanding Vapour Explosion) of container subjected to the flame.

4) Fire involving flammable Solid:

Flammable solid are define as any solid materials other than one classed other than explosive which under condition of normal transportation is liable to causes fire.

5) Fire involving ordinary combustible:

Some hazardous materials including some of the flammable solids burn with no special hazard beyond those associated with paper,wood and other common materials of everyday life.

B) Explosion:

An explosion is sudden increase of volume and release of energy in violent manner. An explosion causes pressure wave local medium in which it occurs. Chemical explosion may two types- Thermal and non-thermal. There are many types of chemical explosion they are as follows:

1) Tank over pressurization explosion:

These events are a result of excessive pressure within a sealed tank or container are deemed non thermal explosion.

2) Dust explosion:

An explosion result from the ignition of mixture of combustible solids and air.

3) Gas or vapour explosion:

These event occurred when the fuel-air mixed with confined, partially confined or unconfined, but the confinement of a mixture most definitely increase the probability of significant personal injury or property damages.

4) Condensed phase explosion :

When the substance that explodes or detonates is a liquid or a solid the event is often is a called a condensed phase explosion.

5) Boiling Liquid Expanding Vapour Explosion(BLEVE):

BLEVE occur of sudden release of large mass of pressurized liquid to the atmosphere resulting from a external flame impinging on the shell of vessels above the liquid levels and weakening the shell with a sudden rapture.

C) Toxic Release:

Release of toxic gases in the environment due to some failure is called toxic release.

D) Environmental Damage:

As well as having the potential for causing injury, loss of life and damage to property, the hazards of fire, explosion and toxic releases may pose a severe threat to the environment. Release of other substances, not directly toxic to humans can cause major pollution problems. It is becoming increasingly recognized that damage to natural resources such as plant and animal life can have serious long term consequences. E.g. destruction of trees is increasing the effect of global warming and extinction of animals are severely disrupting food webs and causing an increase in pests.

Chemical Disaster may be resulted from

- ✓ Fire
- ✓ Explosion
- ✓ Toxic release
- ✓ Poisoning
- ✓ Combination of the above.

Initiators of Chemical Accidents

A number of factors including human errors could spark off chemical accidents with the potential to become chemical disasters. These are:

Process and Safety System Failures

- Technical errors: design defects, fatigue, metal failure, corrosion etc.
- Human errors: neglecting safet instruction, deviating from specified procedure etc.
- Lack of information: absence of emergency warning procedure, non disclosure of line of treatment etc.
- Organisational errors: poor emergency planning and coordination, poor communication with public non-compliance with mock drills/exercises etc., which are required for ensuring a state of quick response and preparedness

Natural Calamities:

The Indian Sub-continent is highly prone to natural disasters, which can also trigger chemical disasters. Damage to phosphoric acid sludge containment during the Orissa super cyclone in 1999 and the release of acrylonitrile at Kandla Port, during an earthquake in 2001, are some of the recent examples.

Vulnerability Assessment:

Improper location of communities:

Communities like Durgachak and Haldia Municipality are located too close to the Point Haldia industrial Zone. If there is an explosion or chemical release, these communities will be severely affected potentially with many deaths and structural damage.

Poor developmental planning in Point Haldia

Industries in Point Haldia Industrial estate are located in such a way that it is easy for one failure to cause a domino effect •

Lack of Knowledge:

Many persons in the Haldia (M) and primarily persons close to the industrial estate are unaware of the actual dangers they face on a daily basis. Although it has been said many times, persons continue to ignore this because a disaster of catastrophic scale has not occurred before at the estate and companies boast of the low probability of such an incident. From a domestic point of view, person using everyday product like degreasers, disinfectants, bleach, lubricants (WD40, PR40), paints, thinners, acids (concrete cleaner) must be careful as most of these products affect the skin.

Lack of mitigation measures:

From findings it has been proven that the mitigation measures put in place on the estate with respect to the ammonia plants are insufficient. There exists no specialized medical facility to deal with industrial cases.

Lack of evacuation expertise

It was found that the emergency response system at Point Haldia was inadequate to handle industrial emergencies as there were a lack of specialized medical personnel as well as triage equipment and facilities.

Transportation risks

Many chemicals, including flammable hydrocarbons are transported on the roadway alongside other vehicles and pedestrians. This poses a risk of explosion, fire, blast fragments and other harmful injury to bystanders, if an incident was to happen.

Risk Reduction Procedure:

- Design and Pre-modification review: this involves proper layout, facilities and material selection. Research should be done try to substitute extremely toxic chemicals with safer ones. Less chemicals should be stored; a reduction in inventory will automatically mean less damage if an accident is to occur.
- Chemical Risk Assessment: Chemicals are assessed based on compatibility, flammability, toxicity, explosion hazards and storage.
- Process Safety Management: HAZOP studies, reliability assessment of process equipment, incorporating safety trips and interlocks, scrubbing system, etc. should be done before effecting major process changes. Management should try to develop a culture of safety in industrial organizations
- Safety Audits: Periodical assessment of safety procedures and practices, performance of safety systems and gadgets along with follow up measures should be carried out.
- Emergency Planning: A comprehensive risk analysis indicating the impact of consequences and specific written down and practiced emergency procedures along with suitable facilities should be done. This can be done by communities as well as national or regional corporation authorities
- Training: Proper training of employees and protective services should be done.
- Special times and escorts for dangerous vehicles

- Public Cooperation on the road: the public should cooperate with the police and any tankers and heavy duty vehicles to avoid accidents and allow for the shortest possible on road time for dangerous vehicles.
- Public awareness: Everyone should be aware of potential disasters and informed of protective and safety measures. MSDS sheets should be readily available to the public. Cautions must be placed to stand out on dangerous household and car care products.

Proper storage of hazardous Materials: All chemicals and hazardous materials should be kept at proper storage temperature and in locked cupboards away from.

Evacuation Plan of Haldia Industrial Zone:

MAP OF MAJOR INDUSTRIES IN HALDIA

Child Centric Disaster Management Plan

Introduction:

In any natural disaster or civil emergency, children and adolescents constitute a particularly vulnerable group. According to the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child, they have the right to be the first to receive attention during emergencies. Clearly, children not only have basic survival needs, such as food, water and shelter, but also suffer great emotional trauma and require psycho-affective needs such as love, recreation and play.

Vulnerability of Children:

- Children require special protection, especially nursing babies, infants and under-fives.
- Adolescent girls and women, and pregnant women in particular, bear an additional burden of vulnerability based on gender.
- Socio-economic status and minority group membership increase vulnerability.
- The family remains the chief source of protection for children. Separation of children from their families increases their vulnerability.

Major Problem of Children during Disaster:

Psychosocial Problem:

- Children are often overlooked in disasters. They tend to go “unperceived”, demographic data often is not disaggregated by age or gender.
- Some cultures do not prioritise children for care and protection.
- Questions of scale: sizes are usually calculated for adults (food rations, medications, latrines, clothes and distances).
- Children in shelters are potential victims (violence, drugs, sexual abuse).
- Children are subject to interfamily violence, especially in stressful situations. Separation from family is the least desirable outcome.
- Separated children require identification, tracing and reunification; new orphans require foster care.
- Children with disabilities need special consideration in disasters.
- The right to play pertains, especially in the shelter context.

Health Related Problem:

- Health status of children is most precarious in emergencies.
- Acute respiratory infections and diarrhoeal disease are the chief threats.
- Children and care-givers lack health and hygiene information.
- Reproductive health of young girls and adolescents is especially affected during disasters.
- Psychosocial needs increase, for children and parents; response should emphasise family and community rather than individual clinical care.

Water and Hygiene Problem:

- Location of water points and latrines are often inconvenient for children.
- Water points pose potential hazards to children (e.g., unprotected wells, heavy pump handles).
- Both children and care-givers lack hygiene and water resource management information.

Food and Nutrition Problem:

- Normally balanced diets are interrupted during disasters.
- Insufficient caloric intake can cause malnutrition and disease.
- Breastfeeding may decrease in shelters.
- Food preparation may be less than adequate in shelters, particularly if mass-feeding replaces family preparation.

Shelters Related Problem:

- Overcrowding constitutes the chief menace to children's health and safety (epidemics, violence).
- Exposure to the elements causes health problems.
- Bedding, blankets and clothing in shelters are often inappropriate to children's needs.
- Lack of privacy for young women and families poses dangers and increases vulnerability in sexual violence.

Education Problem:

- Education, a basic right, is interrupted by a disaster.
- Schools are often used as shelters, undermining education.
- The lack of functioning schools contributes to the destabilised condition of a community.
- There is usually a lack of textbooks, uniforms, shoes and school “kit” following a disaster.
- Pre-school age children lack stimulation in shelters.

What we would do Pre-Disaster, During Disaster & Post Disaster situation for Child Protection:*Pre-Disaster Situation:

1. Appropriate recreational items should be provided at shelters with guidelines on the type of toys permitted.
2. Include psychosocial care in child support services as standard operating procedures.
3. Provide psychological trauma management training for children's officers, guidance counsellors, community workers, social workers, and shelter managers including how to provide counselling to children and caregivers.
4. Include trained counsellors for children's psychosocial needs within the Disaster Team.

5. Shelter Management Teams should ensure that the environment within each shelter can be made child-friendly, with a designated area for play, and space and equipment for educational activities.
6. Each school should develop an emergency preparedness and response plan.
7. The Ministry of Education and Youth should develop an educational kit for shelters, including a visual booklet on disaster preparedness and “Things to do in a disaster.”
8. School curriculum should include a unit on disaster preparedness, including awareness, pro-active behaviour and concern for others.
9. The actual conditions of shelters must be monitored continuously.
10. New community developments should allocate space for shelters independent of schools.
11. The shelter manual should be revised to incorporate provision for children with special needs or disabilities.
12. Shelters must be identified, located to make them accessible to children with disabilities.
13. The design, location and planning of purpose-built shelters should take into account personal privacy, child convenience, and related issues.
14. Pre-packaged shelter kits (clothing) should be stored ahead of time, and provided to shelters in accordance with age cohorts.
15. A Shelter Management Team should be trained to meet the needs of children.
16. Non-discrimination toward children with disabilities, HIV/AIDS, street children and others must be the stated policy of all shelters.
17. Shelter environments should be certified as such ahead of time.
18. Adequate sanitary facilities need to be provided at each shelter, taking into account the number of children each shelter can accommodate.
19. Design of latrines for new facilities should take into consideration the special needs of children; shelters must have a minimum stock of “potties” for toddlers.
20. Education curriculum should include information on sanitation, health and hygiene in a disaster, utilizing creative techniques such as songs and drama.
21. Develop hygiene, first aid and sex education kits
22. First aid kits should be pre-placed at shelters with adequate provision of medicines for children, under supervision of trained promoters.
23. Shelter Management Teams should be sensitized on children's health issues.
24. Shelter Management Teams and other community members should receive training in first aid and basic public health issues.

During & Post Disaster Situation:

1. Shelter Management Teams should implement the child-friendly environment with the aid of community educators, to provide educational activities (for example, conduct activity with toys, books, arts and craft, visual items and outdoor activities) appropriate to the environment.
2. Local human resources should supervise and carry out these activities.
3. Existing community centres are to be used with preference over schools if safe and appropriately furnished. The use of schools as shelters should be a last resort and be limited to a maximum of one week.
4. Families with vulnerable members (including children) housed in schools and churches should be given priority for relocation.

5. The shelter environment must be inspected and cleaned daily.
6. A special effort should be made to identify children, especially street or working children, orphans and those with disabilities.
7. Public shelters must be clearly publicized as open to all children.
8. Children without families at shelters must be identified and given special care and support.
9. Shelter Management Teams and local authorities must support track-ing of missing or separated children at the community level.
10. Orientation upon arrival at shelters should include child-specific issues for mothers and children, including counselling on sexual abuse and violence.
11. Adequate supervision of children at the shelters must serve to protect them from intimidation, coercion, violence, drug abuse or sexual harassment and abuse.
12. Special care, including psycho-social support, must be provided to children who have lost parents in disasters.
13. Volunteer teachers (retirees and community members) should be used at shelters to provide support to children.
14. Supervision of children must be continuous. No child should be allowed to leave the shelter without the permission of a guardian.
15. Rapid assessment of the affected population must specifically analyze the condition of children: i.e. age, gender and health status.
16. A health team must make regular visits to monitor the status of children and of pre/post-natal mothers in shelters.
17. Health education should be provided in shelters via simple health messages to women and children.
18. Adolescents in disaster areas should have access to sex education kits with counselling.
19. Age and gender appropriate personal hygiene kits and toiletries must be available in the shelters.
20. Water sources should be treated to minimize cases of water-borne diseases.
21. Hygiene education should be included in shelter orientation for parents.
22. An adequate waste disposal system must be established at each shelter to reduce children's contact with solid waste. For example portable "Sanitact" disposal units.
23. Where sanitary facilities are insufficient for the number of children and adults, additional resources (for example portable toilets) must be provided immediately.
24. Shelter Management Teams must ensure the capacity for adequate cleansing, sterilization and protection of utensils.
